

Neil Turner Books Reader's Club

Happy November, Everyone!

Happy Thanksgiving to our American friends.

I hope this finds everyone well: letters to Santa Claus on their way to the North Pole, winter tires on the cars, shovels and snow blowers at the ready, shorts and other skimpy clothing packed away, parkas and snowpants and mittens and toques and snow pants and, well, all that stuff out of storage. Hmm. I'm starting to depress myself. Let's talk about something else.

There's plenty happening on the writing front, so let's get right to it.

The Latest Tony Valenti Thriller News

HOT OFF THE PRESS!

The paperback of A Time for Reckoning, the fourth Tony Valenti thriller, is finally ready to roll off the presses. I'm pleased to see that initial reviews have been excellent. Pre-sales of the eBook are coming along nicely, and I'm busy lining up promotions, ads, and whatnot. I'm pleased to announce that there will be special launch-week pricing. I'll send a note about that closer to the December 1st release date, but I'll take a moment now to assure you that sale pricing will apply to eBook pre-sales, so don't worry about missing out on it if you have already placed your pre-sale order. (And thank you for doing so!)

Speaking of reviews, many thanks to all who take the time to post a reader review. A House on Liberty Street reader reviews average 4.7 stars, which is extremely humbling and gratifying. In other news about this novel, the first of the Tony Valenti Thrillers, I'm excited to announce that the editors of BookBub have selected it as an International Featured Deal. This is a pretty big deal for authors of all stripes. This will take place on November 30th. Why do you care? If you haven't yet picked up your copy of A House on Liberty Street, it will be available on November 30th for only $1.99—its lowest price ever! If you don't yet have your copy, pick it up then. Tell your family, friends, and anyone else you know who enjoys thriller novels. In fact, tell everyone!

Book Sale Continues!

BEHIND THE CURTAIN

Writers are, first and foremost, readers. What do you think turned us on to writing in the first place (besides being delusional and having masochist tendencies)? We love good stories, good writing, and escaping into the pages of a novel. Among my greatest pleasures is discovering a new author, whose catalogue I can then devour.

Speaking of which: I'm hearing good things from the folks who dropped in on the book sale I mentioned last week. If you haven't yet, check it out. A House on Liberty Street is part of this winning line up.

Click on the Mysteries & Thrillers image above to see the full list of 24 novels.

Holidays Approaching!

Call for Recipes

With the holiday season just around the corner, it's time to start thinking about family traditions. Share a favorite recipe for a side dish, dessert, or anything edible that is part of your tradition, including beverages—adult or otherwise. If room permits, I may share some of them in next month's Reader's Club Update. I will select one entry (or maybe two!) for inclusion in a holiday scene in a future novel. If I select yours, I'll send you a free copy of my next novel. Please send your entry via the Contact page on my website or send an email to info@neilturnerbooks.com. If you send an email, please type Recipes in the subject line. Thank you!

Reader's Q & A

WIN A FREE BOOK!

What's on your mind? Submit a question. I'll answer one reader question in every Reader's Club Update. If I choose yours, I'll send you a free copy of my next book! Please send your questions via the Contact page on my website or send an email to info@neilturnerbooks.com. If you send an email, please type Reader's Club Q & A in the subject line. Thank you!

Here's the question and answer from October.

Q: Was English your favorite subject in high school?

A: Hmm. Uh, well, er, no. Not exactly. There was ice hockey, socializing studies on the school grounds and elsewhere, chemistry testing of a sort after hours (if you know what I mean), physical education, of course, during and outside of school hours (also if you know what I mean), and, of course, music at all hours—just not the stuff they taught at school. Am I missing anything? Who knew Shakespeare was a four-letter word? I first discovered that in Grade 10. So, after all that dissembling, I guess my answer is no.

That's it for this month, folks. Thanks for being a member of our Readers Club!

Take care, be well, and happy reading,

Neil

Neil Turner Books

332 - 900 Greenbank Road, Ottawa

Ontario K2J 4P6 Canada

Privacy Policy

You received this email because you signed up on our website or made a purchase from us.

Unsubscribe